THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

THE FIGHT ORDERED

ON THE GEORGIA CONGRESSIONAL

THE REPUBLICANS ARE AT WORK

With the Hope of Possibly Carrying the Fifth from Republican Sources.

WASHINGTON, August 8 .- [Special.]-It is said that the republican central campaign committee has determined to make a fight in every congressional district in Georgia this year, and has instructed the republican central committee of Georgia to put a republican candidate against the democratic nominee in every district in the state.

Just why they propose to make Georgis one of their chief fields of operation is hard to tell, unless it be that they expect to antagonize the alliance.

They will be very much disappointed in the effort, for the democrats will carry every district in the state, the hottest fight being that in the ninth district, in which Rev. Thad Pickett will oppose Hon. Tom Winn, who will be the democratic nominee.

In that district the republicans are going to make a most strenuous fight. It is said that Pickett will be backed by just as much money as he wants, to make a successful race. Shrewd republicans here are going to take a hand in it in hopes of carrying at least that district against the nominee. They say that if the backbone of Georgia's solid delegation is broken, and the wedge is once entered they can just push it in further and gain one or two more the next time.

Next to the ninth district, the fifth is the one to which they look most longingly, and the Republican nominee against Colonel Livingston will have full access to the republican fund which is being raised here to carry the next congress.

The Georgia republican committee has been notified to proceed at once to work and get everything ready for thorough organization. They are expected to run a candidate in every district in the state, though developments may change this plan.

MR. CLEMENTS RETURNS. Mr. Clements returned today. He came back by Kentucky, where his wife has been spending the summer with relatives. When asked about the report which has been printed in certain Georgia papers to the effect that he intends moving to Louisville, he pronounced it absolutely false, saying that he had never for one moment considered making any other place than Rome his home.

He says there is no better place in the world to live than Rome, and he expects to remain there for life, continuing his profession. Mr. Clements looks splendid and takes his defeat in the best of humor. The democrats of the house seem to regret it more than he.

THE TAX ON COTTON TIES. Senator Butler Offers an Amendment Re ducing the Duty. WASHINGTON, August 8.—Mr. Call offered a res-olution, which was agreed to, instructing the committee on for eign relations to inquire and report such a measure as may be necessary for the pro-tection of citizens of the United States who were formerly residents of Cuba and subjects of Spain, against prosecution by the Spanish government for offenses alleged to have been committed by and requesting the president to convey to the widow of that eminent man such desire, tendering to her, on behalf of the nation, all necessary facilities for such removal and interment, was taken up and agreed to. The conference report on the fortification bill was taken up for consideration.

Mr. Gorman, one of the conferees, made a statement in regard to the following provision, agreed to in conference, on the subject of guns: That a contract shall be invited by the secretary of war, by proper notice and publication, for the manufacture (inishing and assembling) of eight-inch, ten-inch and twelve-inch steel coast guns from forgings procured under the fortification act of September 22, 1888.

THE CONFERENCE REPORT AGREED TO.

ERENCE REPORT AGREED TO.

After some further discussion the conference report was agreed to.

The conference report on the sundry civil ap-The conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill was then taken up. Mr. Gorman one of the conferees, said that there were a number of items in the report which did not meet with his approval, but that there was no way by which a conclusion could be reached except by each house surrendering something. He called attention particularly to the feature of the report which, he thought, the senate ought not to agree to. That was in regard to three or four items, for the payment of arrears of pay and bounty to two and three years' volunteers. The bill, as it came from the house, had left the appropriations indefinite, using the words "as much as may be necessary." The senate had inserted definite amounts, as estimated for. Thus it had inserted $350,000 for the first item, and for all items $725,000. The conference committee had at had inserted $500,000 to the first hem, into for all items $725,000. The conference committee had struck out definite appropriations, leaving the amount entirely indefinite, and he gave it as his opinion that the aggregate expenditure would not be $725,000, but, perhaps, $3,000,000. The only apparent object of the house in insisting on that point was, he said, that on the face of the bill the total arount appropriated might appear as much parent object of the house in missing of that point was, he said, that on the face of the bill the total amount appropriated might appear so much less. He thought that, on that account, the conference report should be rejected. He said this, not as a matter of party, but as a matter of sound and orderly conduct. The making of indefinite appropriations was opening the door too wide.

Mr. Call argued against the action of the conference committee in striking out of the bill all appropriations for the payment to families of senators and members of the balance of their year's salaries. He thought that, on that ground alone, the conference report should be rejected.

Mr. Sherman expressed his regret at the striking out of items for families of deceased members and of the late Chief Justice Waite.

The discussion then turned upon items in rela-bers and of the late Chief Justice Waite.

The discussion then turned upon items in relation to the irrigation service and public lands, and it was carried on at much length.

Finally, at 4 o'clock, the conference report came to a vote and was agreed to. Yeas, 29; nays, 18.

A further conference was ordered on the irrigation item, which has been postponed, and Messrs-Allison, Hale and Gorman were reappointed conferees on part of the senate.

THE TARIFF BILL. The tariff bill was then taken up, the pending paragraph being No. 134, page 27, as to hoop, band, seroll or other iron or steel, to which Mr. Butler has offered yesterday an amendment, in the place has offered yesterday an amendment, in the place of Mr. Coke's, providing that such hoops used for baling cotton shall be taxed at the rate of 35 per cent ad valorem, the present rate. Mr. Butler spoke to his amendment and inquired of Mr. Aldrich as to the rate of duty at which cotton ties were taxed under the bill, 11-10 cents per pound on hoop, with 2-10 cents additional when out into lengths for baling purposes—making the rate on cotton ties; 13-10 cents per pound or 103 per cent ad valorem. He asked Mr. Aldrich whether increase of duty had been demanded by anybody.

Mr. Aldrich replied that an increase had been demanded ever since the unjust decision of the treasury department, that cotton ties were subject to a tax of 35 per cent ad valorem.

Mr. Butler—Then I understand that the increased duty has been put on by the committee at the instance of a few persons engaged in the manufacture of cotton ties in this country.

Mr. Aldrich—This rate is suggested by the finance committee, because the committee believed it to be the proper rate, and because it equalizes the rates on ties used for one purpose.

Mr. Butler—Then it understand that the increased duty has been put on by the committee at the instance of a few persons engaged in the manufacture of cotton ties in this country.

Mr. Aldrich—This rate is suggested by the finance committee, because the committee believed it to be the proper rate, and because it equalizes the rates on ties used for one purpose.

Mr. Butler—Then this light has has been put on cotton ties by the finance committee of its even motion, without a suggestion from a human being.

Mr. Aldrich—As the senator evidently desires to have it that way, I will not contradict him.

Mr. Butler declared that the proposed duty on cotton ties was nothing more nor less than a deliberate, wanton piece of robbery, and predicted that if it was carried out, enabling combinations and trusts to corner cotton ties, the farmers of the south would return to the use of rope to bale their cotton.

the south would return to the use of rope to bale their cotton.

In the course of discussion, Mr. Hiscock asserted that in his action on the bill he had been actuated by patriotism, broad statesmanship and the general welfare of the country.

"Unquestionably," Mr. Butler asserted, "no senator would doubt for an instant that the senator from New York has been actuated by broad statesmanship, philosophy, wisdom and all other high qualities that adorn any one."

Further on in the discussion Mr. Butler asked Mr. Aldrich whether the object of the bill was not to reduce taxation.

Mr. Aldrich—Not by any means.

Mr. Aldrich—So to be understand me at all, now. I have stated as fairly as I could that the purpose of the bill to reduce taxation.

Mr. Aldrich—One object of the bill is to reduce taxation on the article of sugar, for the benefit of the senator's constituents. If the senator means to ask me whether the purpose of the bill is to reduce protective duties for the purpose of reducing taxation, I say no.

Mr. Butler—Then the senator says that it is not for the purpose of reducing taxation.

Mr. Aldrich—Not by any means.

Mr. Butler—Then we understand each other.

Mr. Aldrich—You do not understand me at all, now. I have stated as fairly as I could that the purpose of the bill is to reduce revenue, and, in reducing revenue, to relieve the people of this country from any burdens created by the tariff or internal revenue laws.

Mr. Butler—Is the object of the bill to reduce revenue?

Mr. Aldrich—I have already stated that that is Mr. Aldrich—I have already stated that that is

Mr. Aldrich—I have already stated that that is one of its objects.

Leaving that point, Mr. Butler said that what he complained of was that the proposed tax on cotion ties would be prohibitory and that a combination would be formed to put up prices. That was iniquity, enormity, an outrageous bill. He declared that there was nothing further from his purpose than to injure any manufacturing industry in the United States, but he could not support the proposed increase of duty on cotton ties. It was not broad states manship, nor homest states manship, to select one class and bleed it to death in order to enrich another class.

At the close of Mr. Butler's speech the bill went over without any action on the cotton ties amendment.

The house then resumed consideration of the general deficiency bill, the pending question being on the amendment granting a month's extra pay to employes of the house and senate.

The amendment was lost—yeas, 72; nays, 104. Mr Vaux, of Pennsylvania, moved to recommit the bill, with instructions to the committee on appropriations to report it back, with the clause appropriating $220,000 for deficiencies in the fees and expenses of United States marshals climinated. Lost—yeas, 33; nays, 150. The bill was then passed. Mr. Cannon, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution providing that after the passage of this resolution it shall be in order, after two hours' debate, to move that the house non-concur in all senate amendments to the Indian appropriation bill, and to ask for a committee of conference.

Mr. Ende. of Tennessee, raised the question of dian appropriation bill, and to ask for a committee of conference.

Mr. Enloe, of Tennessee, raised the question of consideration in the interest, he said, of the private calendar. In order to obviate Mr. Enloe's objection to the resolution, Mr. Cannon stated, in response to a question by Mr. McComes, of Maryland, that it was the purpose of the committee on rules to report resolutions, giving days, to the consideration of bils reported from the committees on agriculture and labor, and to the consideration of private bills. If the Indian appropriation bill could be disposed of today, unanimous consent would be asked to devote tomorrow to the private bills.

The house decided—yeas, 110; nays, 66—to consider the report of the committee on rules.

Mr. Rogers, of Arkansas, having voted in the affirmative for that purpose, moved a reconsideration.

A. Cannon raised the point that this was a intory motion. The speaker sustained the point. Mr. Rogers—I appeal from the decision. The Speaker—The chair declines to entertain the appeal.

Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, moved to table the resolution. Lost—yeas, 51; nays, 109.

Then Mr. Peel, of Arkansas, asked unanimous consent that the senate amendments to the Indian appropriation bill be non-concurred in, giving as his reason, the fact that the Indian service was suffering, and that it was necessary that the ansuffering, and that it was necessary that the ap-propriation bill be passed at the earliest day pos-

Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, objected.

Mr. Cannon then demanded the previous question on the adoption of the resolution.

This motion was agreed to—yeas, 111; nays, 63.

Mr. Dockery, of Mississippi, moved to recommit the resolution. Rejected—yeas, 59; nays, 95.

The question then recurring on the adoption of the resolution, a quorum voted, and the house, at 50 'clock, took a recess until 8 o'clock, the eventual resolution of the resolution of the resolution.

Super-intendent Porter in his letter of recommendation, gives a detailed account of his recent investiga-tion which shows that while, perhaps, a large share of the irregularities were found in fine specified enumeration districts, yet gross errors in 35 districts render, in his opinion, a recount of the whole city necessary. An examination of the schedule discloses, among other irregularities, the fact that at least 4,000 duplications of names were made. The secretary, while exonerating the citizens of St. Paul from even a suspicion of collusion in falsifying the enumeration schedules, believes that the errors committed were of se gross a character and so general as to require, in justice to all concerned, a recount of the whole city. Inasmuch as the resolution seemed to propose trenching upon prerogatives of the committee on rules, by the ways and means committee, in the clause setting apart a day for the consideration of the bill, and for the further reason that owing to the delay in its delivery to the committee the date fixed for consideration of the bill had already been passed, the resolution itself was laid aside without action. platform of the Georgia state convention of yesterday has had a very damaging effect here.

It has done more to aid the passage of the force bill than anything that has happened recently.

The republicans will listen to no explanation. They hold that a failure to denounce the force bill in the platform means that the state acquiesces in its necessity, and means a practical endorsement.

Of course the Georgia men and all dem ocrats laugh at this, but still the republicans are using the weak argument freely, and possibly, advantageously, to the chances of the bill.

A CONFERENCE OF CONSPIRATORS.

Wednesday night a conference was held at the white house. There were present besides Mr. Harrison, Speaker Tom Reed, Napoleon McKinley, Headsman Clarkson, Chairman Belden, Senator Aldrich and others. After talking over reciprocity, Reed spoke up in his blunt way and said:

"Mr. President, while talking about writing messages, why can't you write one to the senate ordering the election bill passed?" In replying, Mr. Harrison expressed surprise to hear the movement to shelve the force bill had gained such proportions. He insisted that the bill must not be abandoned. and expressed himself as willing to let all other legislation go by the board, even to sacrifice the tariff bill if necessary, to effect its passage.

HARRISON SPURRED UP.

He had been spurred up by Reed, and announced that he considered it of paramount importance to the republican party in the coming campaign, and said that under no circumstances should it be allowed to fail.

This aunouncement was just what the crowd present wanted, and the conference ended by Mr. Harrison promising to send for all the doubtful senators to impress upon them the necessity of the passage of the bill.

It now remains to be seen if Plumb, Teller, Walcott and the others can be forced into line on the adoption of gag rules, for without them the bill cannot pass.

Lodge has been lobbying for the bill in the senate during the past two days. He stated today the bill would soon pass, and predicted that the senate's rules would be changed within ten days.

THE CENSUS RETURNS. The census returns from postal card enumeration makes the population of the United States of America a little under 64,000,000 This is exclusive of public institutions, peni-tentiaries, soldiers' homes, etc., which are

The congressional apportionment is now made on the basis of 151,000 inhabitants to the district. If the number of representatives in the house is not increased, the basis of representation must be increased to a little over 180,000, but if it is deemed advisable to increase the size of the house from 330, as at present, to 400, as has been suggested, the basis will be only increased to 162,000 to the district. A very rough estimate of Georgia's population places it at 1,800,000. Thus, if the membership of the house is retained at the present membership, Georgia will hold her own. THE DEFICIENCY BILL. The deficiency bill passed the house today.

In it is included the Trezevant claim, which gives Georgia $35,000; also, Mr. Candler's claim for attorney's fees in his contested election case of $1,650. Of this amount Mr. Candler personally does not get one cent Indeed one of his personal expenses in collecting evidence are paid. The amount goes to the lawyers employed in the ten counties whose returns were attacked. The amount is to be paid out as follows: Colonel N. J. Hammond $500; S. C. Dunlap, Gainesville, $300; George R. Brown, Canton, $300; C. H. Brand, Lawrenceville, $100; Baker & Boyd, Dahlon ega, $100; Howard Thompson, Gainesville, $100; W. F. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hawkins, of Americus, are at the Metropolitan. They are on their bridal tour, and are travelling in a private car. They go from here to New York, thence to Niagara, and on the 16th sail for Europe.

Judge Crisp called on the president today to secure for Harris Ware, of Leesburg, Lee county, a pardon. Ware was convicted for selling liquor without a license, and sentenced by Judge Speer to imprisonment for three months, and to pay a fine of $100. The president agreed to have the fine remitted, but refused to pardon Ware. At Mr. Grimes's request, a special consus agent went to Columbus last night to learn if the recount requested was necessary. The card count gives Columbus only 16,700, while over 20,000 is claimed.

James Longstreet, Jr., formerly of Louis

A STRIKE ON THE NEW YORK CEN-TRAL RAILROAD.

All Trains Stopped on the Road Between New York and Buffalo-Exciting Scenes at the Depot.

NEW YORK, August 8.—A strike of employes on the New York Central and Hudson River railroad was begun at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Not a train has left the depot at Forty-second street since that hour. The Grand Union hotel is since that hour. The Grand Union hotel is crowded with people who expected to leave the city and had engaged passage for various points. At 8:30 o'clock a gentleman reached the hotel and aunounced that the engineers and men em-ployed in running an incoming train had descried their posts in the tunnel at Eighty-sixth street, and left the train standing there. He, as well as other passengers, had to get out and-make their way to Forty-second street on footor by horse ear.

Great throngs of people are crowded into the Grand Central depot and trying to have tlekets changed, and asking all manner of questions. No one seemed to know how it was, or who ordered the strike. Even J. J. Holland, labor leader, denied that he knew who ordered it, or even that it was ordered, when seen by a reporter at 8 o'clock. The confusion and crowds about the Grand Central depot knows no bounds. Vice President Webb was interviewed on the situation. He said that the strike extended only to West Albany. All the men who were out from the employ of the road this evening. Mr. Webb said, would be promptly discharged in the morning. Those men who remained true would be taken care of and amply protected as well as all men who came to work for the road. The road would take on all good men who applied for work in the morning as far as they were needed to fill the places of the deserters, and they would be guaranteed from all harm as well. With great emphasis the vice president announced that he would fight the strikers to the bitter end.

Four-wheel engineers 3½ cents per mile; firemen, 2 cents per mile; For all men overtime double pay.

Mr. Webb announced that the fast mail had pulled out the depot at 9 °clock with four mail cars but no passenger cars were attached to the train. The vice president further announced that to attempt would be made to run any trains to New York. Everything would be left at a standstill just where the men left off There, are no means to get to Albany or New England tonight, but the opening up of the great avenues of trade would be begun tomorrow.

It is announced that the vice president will give out an official statement of the road's position in the present unfortunate controversy, to be published in the newspapers and to be laid before the people of the country, that they may judge who was right and who wrong. Representatives of the railroad company called upon Acting Superintendent of Police Byrnes for protection. The inspector decided to hold in reserve policemen in all precincts on the east side below Forty-second to Yonkers, and on the west side from St. John's park to Yonkers, were placed on duty guarding the tracks and property of the railroad company.

The depot at Forty-second street was under the protection of the full force of police from the Twenty-third subprecinct, and those were asset by members of the boat patrol. Inspector layance detectives quarded the switches and signals along the road to Yonkers.

An attempt was made to run it out here at 1 o'clock, but before it had gone half a dozen blocks it was stalled by the strikers, who put on the air brakes and crowded the platforms of the cars, preventing the one brakeman who was on the train from touching a brake. THE WEEK'S BUSINESS.

Review of the Markets by R. G. Dun & Co.-Failures, Etc. Co.—Failures, Etc.

New York, August 8.—R. G. Dun & Co,'s weekly trade review says: The present state of trade throughout the country appears satisfactory for the season, and reports are almost uniformly confident in tone. Boston notes little present change, but a belief in great activity in the fall. Wool is more freely bought, sales reaching 3,411,000 pounds, and a further decline is not expected, as quite liberal orders are coming for lightweight goods. Cotton goods move fairly and the suspension in print cloth works is having desired effect. The market for hides, leather and boots and shoes is buoyant. Philadelphia also notes unusual activity in this department and a brighter outlook in paper and printing, with the grocers' trade exceeding that of last year's, but no improvement in wool and a seanty buying of cottom. Chicago reports a much larger movement of cattle and hogs; wool recepts fail off a third and hides a quarter, while the sale of dry goods and clothing are larger than last year, with prompt collections. St. Louis notes a strong trade in nearly all lines; Kansas City a fair trade for the season; Omaha and St. Paul a good trade and Milwaukee an improvement. At Minneapolis the lumber demand is good, flour stronger; at Detroit trade-is equal to last year's, and at Cleveland satisfactory, excepting that lake freights are dull and depressed from an over-supply of shipping. Glass and coal are inactive at l'ittsburg, but iron is stronger.

Glass and coal are inactive at l'attsburg, but iron is stronger.

The crop outlook is, on the whole, less promising. Choago reports that the heat and dry weather is cutting down the yield. In the other reports there is evidence of an irregularity of conditions. Syracuse and Detroit note excellent prospects; St. Louis reports corn suffering in the southwest, and Milwaukee a great need for rain. In the south valley states too much rain threatens cotton.

In the south valley states too much rain threatens cotton.

Iron ore and pig iron are inactive and weak at Cleveland, but in rather better demand at Pittsburg, where the demand for finished iron is excellent. The same is true at Philadelphia. Plate and structural mills are crowded, and prices tend to rise, while there and at New York actual quotations for pig iron seem weaker, rather than stronger, and southern No. 1 is quoted at $17 and delivered in New England at $17.50. Lower prices for wool, and a depression in manufacture, especially of all wool and finer goods, in the belief that the delay of the tariff and heavy imports will prevent an improvement this year. The fall of 20 per cent in wool abroad threatens a great supply of cheaper goods if the proposed change of duties fail, so producers hesitate.

The copper market is slow, with some lake sold at 17 cents. Tin and lead are dull.

The outlook depends largely upon the extent of injury to crops, the action of congress regarding duties and foreign complications, which affect the demand for gold. The formation of a new Argentine government may stop new demands for gold from that quarter, and the banks of England and France both gained in gold last week, but domestic exports of products continue small and imports large. Better prices came in the stock exchange Friday, but the trouble between shippers, and trunk lines as to east-bound bills of lading, is not yet settled.

THE TRIAL OF TURNER.

The Murderer and Libertine Makes a State-

SPARTANBURG, S. C., August 8 .- [Special.]-The second day of George S. Turner's trial is passed. The crowd was even larger than that of yesterday. The exciting scenes of yesterday had attracted

The exciting scenes of yesterday had attracted hundreds of spectators. A large part of those present had been here over night. They had camped in the vacant lots around town in order to be at the opening of the court.

Promptly at 9 o'clock Judge Norton took his seat, bailiffs and constables shouted "Silence," and the ringing tones of the criers, "O, Yes;" announced that the prisoner was again at the bar. All day long the crowd packed every corner of the house. The heat was terrible, but their attention never flagged. Late in the afternoon the prisoner was put on the stand. His testimony was given in a clear, firm voice, and without hesitation.

was given in a clear, firm voloe, and without nest-tation.

In substance, he said that he was standing in his store on the evening of the shooting. Finger had called for him, cursed him, and had fired twice at him before he fired in return. He be-lieved himself to be acting in self-defense. He felt no remorse, and thought himself perfectly justified. He was cross examined for an hour and a half by the solicitor, but little was gotten out of him.

and a hair by the solicitor, but little was gotten out of him.

The most touching incident of the day was the testimony given by the prisoner's little nine-year-old son. When asked why he did not visit his Uncle Finger, the little fellow replied that: "He wouldn't go to the house of anybody who wanted to kill his papa."

The evidence in the case was ended today, and counsel will make their arguments tomorrow. It is expected that the verdiet will be guilty.

THERE IS A WIDOW INVOLVED. A Lively Case Taken to Charlotte for Trial, CHABLOTTE, S. C., August &—[Special.]—Union county is here today in full force, the occasion being a case removed from Union to Mecklenburg for trial. It envolves Esquire W. A. Austin, a wealthy and prominent citizen of Union, and the Widow Ellen Brooks, who has heretofore held a high place in the esteem of her neighbors. The peal was taken to the supreme court, but in some way it was never argued before that tribunal. There are more than one hundred witnesses here, and the feeling is so bitter that some of them will not speak to each other when they meet on the street. The trial was commenced today and has attracted great interest, because of the good standing of the two families. It will occupy at least ten days of the court, so the lawyers say.

The Sun's Cotton Article.

The Sun's Cotton Article.

New York, August 8.—Futures opened at last night's prices, closing steady at six points decline on August and one to two points advance on other menths, from yesterday's closing prices. There was some irregularity in today's market. The weak Liverpool report started some selling of August options, and as they met with little support, the decline soon brought in stop orders, which promoted a further break. Large stocks in Liverpool, compared with former years, quite discouraged the clique in August options. The next crop, on the contrary, was slightly dearer, the upward turn of the market being aided by heavy rains in Georgia and the Carolinas, which are, at best, antificient to give the bulls something to talk about and worry the bears. Cotton on spot was steady, with rather more doing.

The Alliance Will Control Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., August 8.—[Special.]—The state democratic convention meets in this city state democratic convention meets in this city next Tuesday, to nominate a complete state ticket. The campaign has been intensely interesting, and the several candidates for the nomination of governor have made a bitter fight. The railroad commission question is the only material point of issue, and the indications are that General James S. Hogg, the commission candidate, will prove an easy victor in the convention, as the Farmers Alliance are his supporters to a unit, and in fact he already has enough instructed votes to give him a good majority under the two-thirds rule.

BATON ROUGE, I.a., August 8.—The afternoon session of the Farmers' Alliance was taken up in the election of officers who were installed tonight. The farmers and the antis will meet in their dis-trict and agree upon candidates for congress.

Baltimore this morning. The drowned were members of a party of fourteen Baltimoreans— Mrs. Storm and two children, Mrs. Johnson and three children and nephew, Miss Nettie Graham, her three nephews and niece, and

Mrs. Stevens. The party, with the exception of Miss Graham, who stood on the shore, went bathing in a creek about a quarter of a mile from the house where they were stopping. The steamer Sue came along. The delight of the young ones at the sight of the vessel found expression in hearty cheers and the waving of hands, which salutations Captain Geoghegan ac-knowledged by several whistles. The Sue at this time was about a quarter of a mile distant from the bathers. The undertow from the steamer caught the women and children and swept some of them beyond their depth. Miss Nettie Graham cried out so loudly that Cap-tain Geoghegan heard her, but before he could reach the bathers, a number of oystermen went to the rescue and saved nine. Mrs. Johnson and Edith Storm lost their lives in efforts to save Mrs. Storm and Carroll

Mrs. Stevens, when carried ashore, was insensible, but was resuscitated.

SHE MARRIED THE WRONG MAN. A Bogus Son Was Substituted for the Real

A Bogus Son Was Substituted for, the Real One.

Columbia, S. C., August 8.—[Special.]—Three years ago Andrew Youngblood, a colored youth, then aged seventeen years, living with his widowed mother in Colleton county, suddenly disappeared from his home for parts unknown.

In November last the grief-stricken mother heard that her wayward son was not far away and quite sick. She at once went in search of him, and brought him to her home, lavishing upon him all the love and care that a woman of her race is capable of. Although in form, feature and color, and even marks, a severe burn, he was identical with the missing Andrew Youngblood. Some of the neighbors doubted his identity because he did not seem to recognize old acquaintances, but he reconciled all of those suspicions by stating that he only pretended not to know them.

Soon after his return home his mother told him that his old sweetheart was still single, and that she thought it his duty to marry her; so taking the advice of his mother he sought the hand of the dusky damsel, and they were soon happily married, and seemed to live very agreeably, until July 5th, when the young man went down to the Edistriver, and committed suicide, by drowning himself. An inquest was held, and the body was buried close by. This, however, did not end the life of Andrew Youngblood, for on July 29th, the real missing boy put in his appearance. He was recognized by all of his neighbors, and knew all the people he was acquainted with before he went away. He was very rigidly examined, and gave satisfactory proof that he was Andrew Youngblood, whom all supposed to be dead. His mother's tears were turned into joy, but the widow still mourns, as she cannot claim him as her husband. She simply married the wrong man.

BAD WORK.

The Wickedness of Several Boys Who Invaded the Gresham High School.

MACON, Ga., August 8.—[Special.]—A few days ago Mr. W. G. Solomon, as one of the trustees of the Gresham High School, discovered that a wanton piece of mischief had been perpetrated at the schoolhouse, which has been kept closed dur-the schoolhouse, which has been kept closed during vacation.

It seems that several boys climbed through one of the windows, and then opened a basement door and admitted several smaller boys. The crowd then proceeded to do their mischief.
They poured ink over the desks, painted the blackboard, tore dozens of leaves out of the large dictionsries and did other damage to the amount of $25. Since the discovery of the mischief Mr. Solomon has been on the watch to detect the boys. He has learned the names of all the perpetrators. They are of good parentage.
The board of trustees have considered the matter and they have decided instead of having the boys carried before the recorder's court, to have them come with their parents to a meeting of the board of trustees on Monday next, and the parents to agree to pay the cost of the damage done and to whip their children for the offense.

OUR ART DEPARTMENT is in the Finest Studio of the city, beautifully lighted, and amply demand. In Fine Art, as in Music, the pupils of the College enjoy from time to time advantages for seen and studying the best works, such as can be found only in a progressive and wide-awake city.

FOR SCIENTIFIC STUDIES our classes have the privilege of attending the lectures of Vander-bill Professors in the Laboratories of Chemistry, of Physics, and of latural History, thus giving us access to the splendid resources of the leading institution of our Church.

OUR GYMNASIUM is as fully equipped for its work as that of any male institution in our sections, there provided for our five flourishing classes. Our teacher of physical culture is a former pupil of Dr. argent.

OUR LITERARY SCHEDULE embraces a scheme of education extending over a period of four years, and a mode of training which is in advance of competition. Our methods have been pronounced by an eminent literary man the best he has ever seen.

A KINDERGARTEN is in full operation in connection with the College; and a training class for teachers and mothers who desire to learn Froebel's principles of child culture.

THE BEST ELOCUTIONARY TRAINING is provided by the employment of a special teacher for the care of Prof. Merrill, of Vanderbilt University, who enjoys a national reputation in this field, eachers desiring further instruction are invited to try this course.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION, Will be delivered to any address in the city at TWENTY CENTS PER WEEK.

THE SUNDAY CONSTITUTION SENT TO ANY ADDRESS.

ATLANTA, GA., AUGUST 8, 1890.

The Official Figures. The official figures of Atlanta's population, as telegraphed by our Washington correspondent, are 65,514-nearly a thousand more than appeared in the rough estimates already printed.

This is an increase of 75.13 per cent over the returns for 1880, and if this ratio of increase is kept up during the next decade, Atlanta will have in 1900 a population of 125,000.

The probability is that the growth of Atlanta will be more rapid during the next ten years than it has been during the past ten. The city is just now receiving the benefit of an impulse that is free from all complications. The confidence of her citizens has been more than justified, and they are now prepared to move forward with new developments that would never have been dreamed of ten years ago.

In other words, our people are just beginning to realize in a definite way the vast possibilities of their city, and their thrift, their energy and their enterprise will make a more wonderful showing in the future than in the past.

Keep your eye on Atlanta!

A Question.

The Kansas City Times bumptionsly boasts that in Kansas forty-four counties are without a pauper, and thirty-seven are without a criminal in their jails.

This is not surprising. How in the mischief would Kansas be able to stand any increase of pauperism or crime when she has to support Mrs. Canfield and Senator Ingalls

Very Embarrassing.

The Washington correspondent of The Chicago Herald tells a piquant little story. It appears that Senator Colquitt entered the senate chamber, the other day, and was inexpressibly shocked to find on his desk a long-necked black bottle and a sandwich covered with a napkin. At first the gentleman from Georgia thought that he was the victim of a practical joke. After inquiring into the facts, however, he learned that a page had been sent for refreshments by Senator Hampton. The boy made a slight mistake in the order, and placed the original package on the wrong desk.

With his bright and shining prohibition record, Senator Colquitt felt that he was placed in an awkward position, and he lost no time in having the suspicious black bottle removed. He summoned the page to his desk, and gave him a lecture, warning him to be careful how he treated the prohibition senators, as it seriously damaged them to be mixed up with their wet colleagues.

Fortunately the mistake was promptly explained, but as the page is a nephew of that reckless humorist, Bill Nye, it is barely possible that the youngster was instigated by the devil, as the old-fashioned indictme say, when he made his blunder. Senator Colquitt will doubtless keep his eagle eye on the youth after this.

The South Misrepresented.

It will be recollected that several northern dailies, for reasons satisfactory to themselves, opposed THE CONSTITUTION'S peaceful defensive policy of commercial independence, suggested as a last resort in the event of the passage of the Lodge bill.

As might have been expected, the utterances of the newspapers referred to have been construed at the north as representing to some extent the sentiment of the south. Now, note the result. The Philadelphia Press, a paper which advocates the bill in its worst shape, with the bayonet clause, says: "Since the southern press accepts the situation, why not pass the bill? We do not doubt southern senators pressed to the wall

The Press makes a big mistake. The southern people have endorsed THE CON-STITUTION'S policy. The journals that have "accepted the situation" do not represent public sentiment, and when they see the effect of their injudicious action they will feel that, like a confederate note, they represent nothing on the earth.

A Strong Man.

Congressman Amos J. Cummings made a hit, the other day, with his speech on the Kittery navy yard resolution.

Mr. Cummings made the charge that the force at the navy yard was to be increased for partisan purposes. He quoted figures to show that previous to an election the force is much larger than it is a month or two later. The majority of the men always come from the adjointing Maine congressional district represented by Brackett Reed. It was shown from the records that the policy of the republicans had been to use the navy yards to expedite political ends. Mr. Boutelle in reply claimed that a democratic administration had done the same thing, and that the secretary of the navy was simply discharging his duty under the appropriation bill.

This defense did not squarely meet the charge made by Mr. Cummings that the navy yard was about to be packed with illegal voters to secure Reed's re-election, and a sensitive man in the speaker's chair would ave demanded an investigation. The debate has called public attention to the strength which Amos Cummings has developed during his congressional service. This famous journalist, who practically began his education in a country printing office in Georgia, and completed it in that rough school known only to self-made men, has within the past year come to the front as one of the strongest men in the house. He is a man of granite, clear-headed, resolute and full of indomitable energy. When he rises to speak he is heard with attention. He wastes no words, and goes straight to the point. He has never lagged behind his party, and his inborn hatred of anything that is unfair or oppressive has made him the best friend from the north that the south has ever had since Sam Randall stood up a tower of strength in her behalf.

If this honest and practical statesman is willing to remain in public life, he will go still higher. It is hoped by many that he will be the next governor of New York, and the empire state would have to hunt far and wide to find a better executive. There is a great future before this sturdy tribune of the people, if he is willing to continue in politi-

Well Done!

The state convention that has just adjourned, did its work rapidly and well. It attended strictly to business, and moved forward to its culmination and adjournment in perfect harmony.

It has certainly demonstrated the fact that the democratic party of Georgia, contrary to the suggestions and predictions of some of our esteemed but neryous contemporaries, has nothing to fear from the farmers or the alliancemen. The alliance had control of the convention, but controlled it as democrats, and gave no excuse for even the most sensitive doctrinaire to doubt their wisdom or their patriotism.

There is another feature of the convention that deserves more than a passing notice. The convention made no issue of the subtreasury bill, refraining from even discussing it. Their action in this matter justifies the refusal of THE Constitution, in the face of curt challenges of some of its short-sighted contemporaries, to make the subtreasury bill the subject of newspaper controversy. If such a controversy had been precipitated, it would have become a heated one, and the result might not have been specially pleasing to those democrats who believe that an allianceman cannot be a

We congratulate the convention on its vork, and we tender to our contemporaries renewed assurances of our distinguished consideration.

Living in the Past.

A recent lecture by the Rev. Dr. Lafferty on "Progress" has stirred up an old-timer in Virginia, who writes a vigorous protest against the progress of the present day.

Dr. Lafferty's critic asks where we can find statesmen equal to Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Calhoun, Webster, Clay, Benton, Polk, Pierce and Buchanan. He goes on to say:

Those statesmen spoken of fifty years in the ast were men of wisdom, and the true definition f wisdom, as I understand it, is virtue, honesty, orality and sociability. Those principles they ned to live up to and did carry into execution but a large majority of our present statesmen are voluptuous, dishonest, immoral and void of socia-bility, and were it not for the statesmanship of the mocratic statesmen, this government would be a blank. But still we cannot favorably compar with fifty years in the past, consequently we are in retrogression, politically speaking. Compare our present divinity with those eminent divines of the fifty years in the past spoken of, and he will ot find a comparison in virtue, morality and ociability. Even if they did take their tipple, as he said, it is more progressive to take it openly than to slip around the druggist's counter and take it and then go out and lecture on temperance and prohibition to deceive men, as they do in our progressive age. In arts and sciences, I admit we have progressed, but I will ask him if our progress is upward or downward? If upward, we have progressed; if downward, we have retrograded. was fifty years ago, for in that age the arts were ptuous than they are in this age This old Virginian feels what he says, and talks with the bark off. He replies to one of Dr. Lafferty's reminiscences by saying that it would be better if our young men would ride beside their best girl on th colts their fathers gave them, as they did fifty years ago, than to ride beside that girl in a buggy, with their father's farm under a mortgage to buy that buggy.

Despite all this talk about the past, we are progressing in certain directions. Fifty years ago people were talking about the good old times, just as some old men talk now, and fifty years hence white-haired grandsires will tell the children of the golden age of the year of our Lord, 1890

The fact is, when we reach a certain age or mental stage, the world rushes on past us, and we condemn what we cannot keep up with. Each generation forges ahead under the irresistible laws of progress, and all that may be said by those who lag behind cannot start a retrograde movement.

Harper's Weekly, in discussing THE CON-STITUTION'S plan of boycott says that it has had two very different effects. First, "It has elicited a very general and forcible expression of dissent and rebuke from all parts of the country; and, second, it has shown by drawing the letter of approval from General Gordon, that in his judgment, the proposition is nevertheless supported by a strong local sentiment." The expression of dissent and rebuke to which Harper's Weekly alludes, especially those that have gone forth from the south have had but one effect, and that is to give the republican leaders and their organs an idea that opposition to the force bill in this section is neither earnest nor vigorous. The Philadelphia Press and other republican papers have quoted some of these "expressions of dissent and rebuke" and used them as arguments to show that the Lodge bill ought to be passed. The southern newspapers which have joined in this "expression of dissent and rebuke" either do not understand southern sentiment, or, through motives which do not ncern us, have undertaken to misrepresen it. Harper's Weekly may be very sure that neither THE CONSTITUTION nor General Gordon have misinterpreted the character and extent of the opposition of the southern people to the Lodge bill. THE CONSTITU-TION'S plan involved a desperate remedy for a desperate evil, but it was at least a peace ful remedy. It was intended and expected that the suggestion of such a remedy would contain within it all the elements of agitation necessary to defeat the bill, and the result has shown that THE CONSTITUTION not only rightly interpreted the public sentinent of the south, but correctly judged the Harper's Weekly, and, indeed, the whole country know what that result has been. The very suggestion of the boyeott as a remedy for partisan and sectional legislation has rendered the remedy unnecessary. The critation that has followed it from one end of the country to the other has shown that the people of the United States are opposed to it, and they have made their opposition known to the republicans. This is the result that has followed THE CONSTITUTION'S boycott suggestion.

We need do no more than briefly refer t the mistake made by Harper's Weekly when it alludes to "the attempt to defeat the passage of the bill by a boycott." There was no such attempt. There was to be no boy-cott until the bill had become a law, and even the suggestion of a boycott was based on the apathy that existed among the business men and people of the north relative to the Lodge bill. All the opposition that had been made to the bill was confined to the democratic and conservative newspapers. There had been no pressure whatever brought to bear on congress in the direction of protecting the people of the south from the deplorable results of such vicious and unjust legislation. The opposition to the bill on the part of our friends at the north seemed to be of a purely negative character. Now all this is changed. Every element of business, both at the north and at the south, has actively arrayed itself against the force bill, and the result is that the bill and the boycott died together.

THE DIFFERENCE between the situation in Georgia and in South Carolina is the differ ence between wisdom and blind intolerance.

THE ELEPHANT ballot box closes at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The highest votes now stand. "Miss Priscilla," 405; "Remus," 244; "Winnie," 62. Now, what shall the name be?

"THE BOYCOTT is played out," says The Boston Herald. This is true. It played out with the force bill. Now let us all be merry

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Two YEARS ago a hard-up journalist named Mack borrowed a dollar of a friend in New York. This summer the lender was in London and found Mack owning a third interest in a Saturday paper worth $400,000. His luck had changed.

THE REV. DR. C. M. HYDE has come togrief in his attempt to show that Father Damien, the unselfish priest who went to certain death among the lepers of the Sandwich islands, was a man of mmoral character. First, Robert Louis Stevenson showed the falsity of Hyde's charges, and now the bishop at the head of the Honolulu Catholic mission writes to the Hawailan Gazette as follows: "When Dr. Hyde's letter became known here by means of foreign papers, the Catholic mission held its peace, awaiting the expression of public opinion. Up to that time I had never heard of opinion. Up to that time I had never heard of any slur cast upon Father Damien's moral purity. I immediately made secret but serious confidential inquiry about the matter, and I learned, from reliable sources, that the damaging rumors had no other foundation than a malicious interpretano other roundation than a manifolds interpreta-tion of charitable acts performed by him with childlike simplicity. Public opinion does not credit those foul rumors here, though there are a few people that take stock in the scandal, for reasons best known to themselves. In your last issue you publish an interview of Dr. Hyde with The Examiner, in which the doctor sustains his recipialistic of Extern Danies. Furthers alies original letter on Father Damien. Further, a clipping from The Liverpool Courier which I received lately contains Dr. Hyde's letter to Mr. Beta, and in this letter the doctor again maintains his orig-inal statement, and he even adds: 'The Catholic mission here makes no denial of the truthfulness of my testimony.' Now, as head of the Catholic mission here further silence on my part would give the color of truth to Dr. Hyde's slanderous attack on the late Father Damien, and, therefore I beg you to publish the following declaration which I make as head of this mission: I do most emphatically deny the truthfulness of Dr. Hyde's testimony against the moral purity of the late —Athens has a tree that is a property holder. The facts, as told by the Athens Banner, are these: Way back in the first part of this century the land containing the tree and that taking in a good part of the vicinity, was owned by Colonel W. H. Jackson. Colonel Jackson had watched the tree grow from his childhood, and grew to love it almost as he would a human. Its luxuriant foliage and sturdy limbs had often protected him from the heavy rains, and out of its highest branches he had many a time gotten the eggs of the feathered songsters. He watched its growth, and when on reaching a ripe old age he saw the tree stands ing in its magnificent proportions, he was pained to think that after his death it would fall into the hands of those who th it would fall into the hands of those wh might destroy it. Thinking thusly he came to the conclusion that the only way to be sure of its protection from the ax of the unsparing woodsman was to allow it to become its own master. And this he did. Going to the courthouse he had there recorded a deed, from which the following is an extract: "I. W. H. Jackson, of the county of Clarke, of the one part, and the oak tree, (giving location) of the county of Clarke, of the other part: Witnesseth, That the said W. H. Its eyes were exceed-ingly small, and an investigation of its mouth showed an entire absence of fangs, but, instead, small, fish-like teeth. When placed on dry land, it squirmed and twisted about, but could not crawl like a snake. The conclusion of all who saw it, was, that it was a hybrid—half snake and half fish. on Mr. John Ryan. Mr. P. W. J. Quarles, a dry goods clerk, drew a pistol on Mr. John Ryan, of John Ryan's Sons, yesterday morning.

Mr. Steve Ryan swore out a warrant for Quarles

Mr. Steve Ryan swore out a warrant for Quarles yesterday, charging him with assault to murder. Mr. Quarles and Mr. Ryan had a difficulty, during which Quarles drew a pistol. Mr. Steve Ryan saw the act, and interfering disarmed him before any shooting was done.

The difficulty arose about some derogatory remarks made by Quarles in reference to the clerks employed in Mr. Ryan's store.

It appears from the statement of both gentlemen that Quarles had gone into Mr. Ryan's store to seek a job, having left chamberin, Johnson & Co.'s, where he had been employed a long time. Mr. John Ryan, to whom he applied, did not need his services, and Quarles left the store, but returned soon, and again made the same request.

When again refused, he made the objectionable remark. Mr. Ryan ordered him out of the store, afterwards meeting at the back door opening on Broad street.

afterwards meeting at the back door opening on Broad street.

Mr. Ryan says their meeting was unintentional on his part, as he did not want to have any trouble with Mr. Quarles, who, on the other hand, stated that Mr. Ryan met him there by appointment.

When they met hot words ensued, each claiming the other to be at fault. Mr. Quarles says Mr. Ryan started at him with a knife, when he drew his pistol to defend himself, and Mr. Ryan's version is that the pistol was drawn by Quarles without provocation on his part. Patrolinan T. J. Thompson arrested Quarles, and at the police station cases for carrying concealed weapons and assault with attempt to murder were entered against him.

Quarles insists that the pistol he carried was not concealed, but that the handle was fully exposed to view from his inside coat pocket.

A POLICEMAN CUT.

Patrolman Looney Wounded with a Pair of Shears.

Patrolman Looney was painfully cut and stabbed with a pair of tailor's shears yesterday.

Mack McSweeney, a tailor, did the cutting.

McSweeney has a shop and lives above Jacobs's drug store. Yesterday afternoon he got too much corn liquor aboard, and was in the act of turning the house upside down, when his wife called Polleeman Looney in to arrest him.

The officer responded to the call promptly. When he entered the room where McSweeney was engaged in his depredations, he encountered a violent attack. McSweeney rushed at the officer with a long pair of shears in his hand, and in the scuffle which ensued succeeded in cutting the officer several times in the arm and

He was so much hurt as to be compelled to go off duty. His wounds were dressed by a physician, who does not think any serious results will follow. McSweeney was finally arrested and locked up in the station house. He will more than likely have to answer a state case. Beecham's Pills act like magic on a weak

FROM OUR NOTEBOOK.

Another Contribution—Yesterday Mr. W. C. Leigh, of West End, was on his way to the city when he spied a ground mole at work. He set about effecting his capture, and soon succeeded in entrapping the little creature. He will present the mole to the Gress zoo, as a furnning mate for The Constitution elephant. Mr. Leigh is a very shrewd and capable business man, but nobody ever supposed that he was sharp enough farmer to catch a ground mole. Had the conventionilasted a day longer, he would probably have been a candidate for commissioner of agriculture, in which case he would have made a regular sweepstakes race.

A Small Aquarium.—Mr. L. B. Folsom has turned his attention to the rearing of pets of different kinds. His old parrot became so cross that he decided to try other varieties that looked as well and made less noise. He now has a ten-inoh alligator, and a yearling turble in the new aquarium which he is starting.

Big Melons .- Mr. John G. Miller, of Stone Mountain, was in the city yesterday with the finest wagon load of melons brought here during the season. Mr. Miller raised a meion that weighed 120 pounds, in 1888, the largest ever ripened in Georgia. This year he made the biggest crop of wheat and the largest tomatoes of any man in the state. He asuccessful and thoroughgoing farmer.

Concerning a Justice Court.—Judge S. H. Landrup, justice of the peace for the 1,25th district, has removed his court ground from its old place on Peachtree street to 25½ Decatur street. The removal took place yesterday. The building in which the old office was located is being torn away by the opening up of Wheat street.

Complimentary to the Children.—The Zouave band will play at Grant park this afternoon in compliment to the children who were active in raising money for the lion fund, but the general public will be welcome. A Three-Weeks' Jaunt.—A party of well-known Atlanta young men have just returned from a three-weeks' wagon trip through north Georgia. In the party were Messrs. Morton Smith, Paul de Give, Henry de Give, Julian de Give, Paul Carey and Dr. T. P. Himman. Fishing and hunting made up a good part of the amusement on the way. All speak of the trip as a most delightful one—especially the stay of the party at Whitepath.

Wants Divorce.—Lewis Haralson has begun proceedings for total divorce from his wife, Caro-line Haralson, on the grounds of desertion.

Another Divore Wanted .- Victoria Hadden began proceedings against her husband, George Hadden, for total divorce yesterday, in the superior court. She gives, as the cause of her action, cruelty, alleging that on one occasion the defendant assaulted her with a knife and cut her on the arm very badly.

The G. H. G. Parade and Tilt—The quartely parade and annual tilt of the Governor's Horse Guard, which was to have been held this week, has been postponed until some day next week on account of the rainy weather, which has badly affected the tilting grounds.

Wants to Be a Citizen.—Yesterday Mr. Herman Bluthenthal filed a petition in the clerk's office of Fulton county superior court asking that he be admitted to the full rights of citizenship.
Mr. Bluthenthal is a Bavarian, and has been in this country for five years. He has never been naturalized, and that is why he applied to the courts yesterday for naturalization papers. They will be granted so soon as the statute allows, and Mr. Bluthenthal may be able to use his influence in the next presidential election, if not before.

Park Pleasures.—The lion will be formally pre-sented to the park this afternoon and Professor Marston's Zouave band will render some selec-gions specially arranged for the occasion.

First Bale.—The first bale of new cotton came over the Atlanta and Florida railroad this morning consigned to Maddox, Rucker & Co. It classed strictly low middling and sold for 12 cents per pound.

Off for the White.—Mr. Will F. Walker, district agent of the Texas and Pacific, left last night for Greenbrier White, where he will spend several weeks.

Happy? Well, Rather.—The happiest man in Atlanta yesterday and Thursday was Will Drake. A splendid eleven-pound boy who arrived at his home on Thursday w.3 the cause of all this happiness and of the hearty congratulations of which the happy father has been the recipient. All sorts of good wishes for the little one are extended by the many friends of his parents.

Gone to Birmingham.—Mr. Julian Gorham, who has for some time been in the office of Major G. H. Barner, of the East Tennessee, as stenographer, has gone to Birmingham to accept a position with Mr. C. P. Hammond, assistant superintendent of the Georgia Pacific railway. His many Atlanta friends wish him success in his new field.

Police Signal System.—Colonel Skinner, representing the Municipal Signal Company, of Boston, who has been in Atlanta for two weeks past for the purpose of exhibiting the operation of his house to the board of police commissioners, left for Boston last night. Colonel Skinner shipped his aparatus back to Boston several days after having given an exhibition of its verticers. exhibition of its workings.

Mr. W. H. Wendell, representing the Gamewell Company, of New York, is in the city with his signal apparatus. He will give an exhibition of its working today or Monday. When this test is made the committee will decide upon the adeption of one or the other.

Well-Worn Mementies.—Captain A. M. Perkerson carries two rocks in his poeket which he values very highly. One of them is from the trench where he stood, in the Shenandoah valley, between the little redoubt and the enemy.

The other rock is a pure white flint rock, and was brought from Pickett's grave. Captain Perkerson was with the Atlanta Artillery at that time and did noble service.

What Is the Sequel?—Mr. J. R. Merchant sold his safe yesterday, and in making the sale he only reserved one old Mexican dollar.

This dollar was taken in during the course of trade ten years ago, and Mr. Merchant put it in his safe.

On the reverse of the coin is the name "Maggie Stella Johnson, born Gwinnett county, Ga., 1872."

That is all there is on the coin, or the story. If there is any further solution of the little mystery it must come from some other quarter. And what is the sequel? what is the sequel?

Colonel Livingston at the Chautauqua.—Colonel L. F. Livingston will leave this morning for Salt Springs, where he will speak before the Piedmont Chantauqua today. Colonel Livingston will discuss the living topics of the day.

Macon, Ga., August 6, 1890.—Mr. Editor: I see by this morning's Constitution that the present name of your elephant is "Nome." Now, why not preserve that name by reversing it, and name her "Omen." THE PIEDMONT CHAUTAUQUA. Good Day-Excellent Music and Elo

A Good Day—Excellent Music and Eloquent Lectures.

Lithia Springs, Ga., August 8.—[Special.]—The day yesterday was pleasantly spent at the Piedmont Chautauqua, New arrivals fill up the places made vacant by the departure of old friends. Among the new arrivals are the Rev. George B. Eager, D.D., and wife, of Anniston, Ala., and Dr. Lysander Dickerman, who began a series of lectures on Egypt last night. The programme yesterday was an interesting one, including a lecture at it o'clock a. m. by Dr. Eager, on "Ideals." The doctor has a fine presence and a clear, musical voice. He began his address by stating that though not a young man he was a new hand at lecturing. He did his work like a veteran, however, and every one who heard him felt he was a decided acquisition to chautauqua's working corps. The aim of the lecture was to show the value of the ideal in all the work of life, and to induce his hearers to be guided only by the highest ideals. The language was chaste and elegant, the thought forceful and vigorous, and the delivery well-nigh perfect. The afternoon concert by the Weber orchestra was enjoyed by a large audience. It was of unusual excellence, even for this organization of professionals. Some old favorites werendered and several new selections, among them a concert aria for trombone and cornet by Herbert. Messrs. Brand and Herwig handled these instruments with skill and in good tone, and the entire orchestra did splendid work. The concert was worthy a larger audience than listened to it. The chorus rehersal was held as usual and enjoyed by the audience. At 5 o'clock Dr. Gillett met the Chautauquans and arrangements were made for the recognition or commencement day exercises which are to take place on Tuesday next. There will be several preview their diplomas of medical places of the class of "950" to receive their diplomas frence which represent to 4the Chautauquan science, philosonic, literature and religion. A company exercises which are to take place on Tuesday next. There will be several graduates of the class of "'99" to receive their diplomas There is to be a procession, the passing of arches which represent to the Chautauquan science, philosophy, literature and religion. A company of little flower girls will scatter flowers in the way of the graduates, and at last through the golden gate the graduates will pass to the platform for the address, the formal recognition and their diplomas. All members of C. L. S. C. circles are invited to attend.

The musical prelude of the evening was given by the chorus, which, under the direction of Professor Smith, is making excellent progress. The programme included a piane solo by Miss Maidee Smith and a soprane solo by Miss Maidee Smith and a soprane solo by Miss Evans, ontitled, "I'm a Zingara." It was well sung, and received, as it deserved, a most enthusiastic reception. Mrs. Alwyn Smith sang in her splendid style, "Waiting," by Mill rd, with violin obligato played by Mr. Adolph Hahn. The closing chogus, "O Sing Ye Jehovah's Praises," was well sung.

The lecture, by Dr. Dickerman, brought out the full patronage of the hotels and cottages. The learned doctor was given a cordial reception, and for an hour and a quarter held the undivided attention of his large audience as he told the story of ancient Egypt's glory. With the aid of the splendid illustrations it was an easy thing to imagine ourselves on the shores of the snicent river in the land "where it is always afternoon," studying the throngs of people as they poured in and out of the gates of its mighty cities, and listening to the chants of the army of priests in the great temples, or watching the marching of armies, the slow movement of funeral processions. It was in reality a visit to the ancient cities of On, Zoan, Memphis, without the weariness or expense of the journey. Tonght Dr. Dickerman will lecture on the "Architecture of Ancient Egypt." In this lecture the views are especially fine.

TWO INQUESTS. The Killing of Two Men by the Railroads

Examined Lato Vesterday.

Two inquests were held yesterday morning.
Dr. Avary presided over one and Justice S. H.
Landrum over the other.

The inquests were over the bodies of Tom Garrison and J. S. Mason, both of whom were killed on son and J. S. Mason, both of whom were killed on the railroads yesterday: Garrison was mashed between the bumpers of two freight ears in the Georgia road yard, and Mason was run over by a Georgia Pacific passenger tain near the five mile post. The details of both accidents were printed Georgia Pacific passenger tain near the five mile post. The details of both accidents were printed in yesterday's paper.

Justice Landrum conducted the investigation over Garrison's body at the residence of his mother on Moore street. The verdict of the jury was that he came to his death from being crushed between two freight cars on the Georgia railroad. The railroad company was neither censured nor exhonerated from blame.

Engineer Higgim, of the train which caused Garrison's death, Yardmaster Dodge and two yard hands named Parks and Johns were the only whinesses introduc d.

Their evidence was in effect mainly as appeared in yesterday's report of the killing, that Garrison had tried to make the coupling but failed the first time, signalled the engineer to pull out, which he did, but in coming back again caught the man between the bumper, just as he was in the act of stepping from one side of the apparatus to the other.

Garrison's remains were buried in Oakland cemetery yesterday.

The verdict of the coroner's jury on investigation of the Georgia Pacific killing, was that Mason's death was purely accidental the result of his own carelessness in stepping from one track to another.

A negro hand who was walking with Masen at the time he was struck, narrowly escaped being killed also. He jumped off the track just in time to save himself, and called to Mason but was not heard because of the noise made by the two rushing trains. The engineer blew his whistle, but this also was lost in the din of the trains.

Mason was stone dead when ricked my, as soon Mason was stone dead when picked up, as soon Mason was stone dead when picked up, as soon as the train had passed.

He was unmarried and had been working with the line squad only three weeks. His body was sent home to his parents, both of whom are living in Morgan county, North Carolina.

CONVENTION NOTES.

Hon. C. L. Moses, who succeeds Tom Grimes as ongressman from the fourth, was talking to a onvention delegate from Richmond, at the Kimball.

"They tell me," remarked the congressman elect, "that the subtreasury plan was quite an issue in the race in the tenth."

"Oh, yes," said the other quickly, "it was the only issue. That was what beat George Barnes."

"It didn't figure in the contest in the fourth," said Mr. Moses. "The people didn't say or care much about it, one way or the othet." Surely Mr. Nesbitt had no warmer friend in his candidacy for commissioner than Captain Bob Irwin, of Cobb county and the comptroller gen-eral's department.

Irwin, of Cobb county and the comptroller general's department.

But Captain Bob looked very serious and thoughtful yesterday morning, and—even more surprising—it was about the result of the race for commissioner of agriculture.

"Yes, sir," he explains, "the first fellow I met down town this morning was Walter de Wolf. Now, there isn't a bigger-hearted man in Georgia than he is, and it broke me all up to see him looking blue over it. It made me feel sorter mean, too. Of course he worked all the time for Henderson, trying to beat Nosbitt, but I wish there was some way to put Nesbitt in and keep Walter there, too. And there's John Waddell. Aint it a pity a fellow's friends won't all get on one side?"

The one thing about the convention that every-body regretted was that John Temple Graves was too ill to speak. Expressions of sympathy and regret were heard too ill to speak.

Expressions of sympathy and regret were heard on all sides.

"We lost Henderson and we lost Anderson," remarked one of the Museogee delegation that night, "but what I regret most is that Graves couldn't speak. I was anxious to see both Henderson and Anderson elected, but wouldn't have sacrificed the time, perhaps, just to come here and vote for them when another man could have done just as much good. What I came to Atlanta for was to hear that nominating speech."

convention.

Liberty county was without representation until just in time to east her vote on the last ballot for Nesbitt.

A delegate from Wayne, at the verbal request of Senator Bradwell, of Liberty, asked permission to cast the vote of Liberty.

It was ruled that he could not do so.

A telegram was sent to Liberty for proxy by telegraph, and it came just in time for the last ballot.

Judge Lester carried eighty-one counties. Judge Anderson carried forty-eight counties. Hancock, McIntosh and Wilson were divided

On the first ballot for commissioner of agricult-ure—which shows the instructed vote with which each man entered the contest—Nesbitt carried fifty-eight counties, Henderson forty-eight and Hunnicutt nineteen.

Hancock and Carroll were divided amongst all Hancock and Carrol were divided amongst and three. Carroll, in particular, was very much divided, giving Henderson two-thirds, Nesbitt two and two-thirds and Hunnicutt two-thirds. It voted that way first, last and all the time.

Bibb, Decatur, Effingham and MeIntosh were divided between Henderson and Nesbitt.

Terrell was divided equally between Nesbitt and Hunnicutt.

Hunnicutt.

The most dramatic incident in the session of the convention was when Cowets, Hunnicutt's home county, changed from Hunnicutt to Nesbitt.

The convention went wild.

Nesbitt was nominated right then.

Nobody in the convention—not even Mr. Northen—had more friends there than Tom Hardeman, of Bibb.

He and Treasurer Bob Hardeman were standing side by side in the door on the left, opening into the clerk's room. They looked as much alike as two peas, except that the treasurer wasn't quite—not quite—so gray.

Where will you find two brothers again so near the hearts of the people of Georgia?

DRY, COLD AIR-The "Alaska" Refrigerator, the Choice of the People of the South. There no longer exists in the minds of the public any doubt that the ALASKA REFRIGERATION does produce dry, cold air in its provision chamber. A practical use for many years in various countries and climates has proved beyond question that its theory is correct.

The peculiar and scientific construction of the ALASKA creates a thorough and constant circula-tion, by which all vapors arising from foods in the provision chamber are condensed in the ice pan, and run off with the melting ice. Most refrigerators are so constructed that vapors from various kinds of food are chilled to bead drops of water within the provision chamber Hence such refrigerators are always damp and deleterious to health; and hence the instruction

In the ALASKA no vapors are allowed to remain; but, by a perfect circulation of air, they are drawn rough the flues into the ice chest and condensed air falls into the provision chamber.

The provision chamber of the ALASKA never coats from condensation, but is always clear and free from foul odor.

It is on account of these excellent refrigerating qualities that the Alassa has become noted for being entirely free from mould, or mildew, or unpleasant odors, regardless of the length of time perishable articles of food may have been kept in it.

THE STOCK MARKET. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, August 8.—The stock market today returned to its old condition of extreme dullness in business and utter stagnation in prices, the bear movement having apparently finally come to an end. The same conditions which invited the late attack remain, however, and while money on call is commanding more than the legal rate, and no improvement in the crop situation is reported, exery one expects to see an unfavorable bank statement tomorrow. London, however, displayed a better feeling, and this morning was displayed a better feeling, and this morning was buoyant on American securities with an easier money market, and recent purchases here of secu-rities for foreign account give emphasis to that rities for foreign account give emphasis to that fact. Rates for sterling exchange were lower and leading bankers do not anticipate any further outgo of gold in the near future. Higher figures from London th's morning, together with the rally last evening, contributed to make a firm to strong opening and even further fractional advances in early dealings. The upward movement could not be maintained, however, and prices, after settling back to about the level of the first figures became utterly stagnant, especially in the afternoon. New England was the strong feature of the day and it scored a gain of over 1 per cent, but, like all the rest, even inside manipulation could not hold the advance. Sugar was moved up or down according to the varying feeling as to the could not hold the advance. Sugar was invested by or down according to the varying feeling as to the probable outcome of the suit to admit Receiver Gray as a defendant in the sugar trust reorganization proceedings. Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis was marked off suddenly again in the sugar trust and st. Louis was marked off suddenly again in the sugar trust and st. August 2011. and St. Louis was marked oir suddenly again in the afternoon but recovered as quickly, and it, like the others, shows only a slight change this evening. The crop situation keeps the bulls and bears alike cautious until the final outcome is bears alike cautious unit the the known, and while the feeling in the street is again bullish further developments are awaited. The market remained intensely dull throughout the afternoon, and finally closed stagnant at insignif-icant changes from last night's figures. Final changes are about equally divided between gains and losses, all for small fractions. Sales of listed

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, August 8—[Special.]—Yesterday's sharp advance on August failed to stimulate Liverpool this morning, and as the short interest, which covered so freely yesterday was missing, a desire to realize profits for southern account brought about a decline in that position. Septembers and beyond were furthy maintained as meraber and beyond were firmly maintained, as opera-tors fear the agricultural bureau report tomorrow will be less favorable than last month in consequence of the recent heavy and continuous showers in the Atlantic states. Yesterday's sales for export were not reported officially today, the transactions being made between merchants, but the small freight engagements lead many to be-lieve the amount was exaggerated to hide the cov-ering of previous sales. The first bale of new cot-ton from Louisiana was received at New Orleans today. The corner there appears to draw Texas cotton by railroad for delivery at the high prices ruling. The sentiment here is very bearish, and only deterred from forcing prices lower by the knowledge of our close approach even on August to Liverpool parity. Hubbard, Price & Co.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, August 8—Wheat—A large business was transacted and the market ruled weak and lower, with considerable calling and some selling short. The market appeared to be a broader one, outside orders being well represented. New York was reported as heavy buyers at one time during the session, and it was claimed that St. Louis parthe session, and it was claimed that St. Louis parties were rather free sellers. The market opened %@%@%clower than yesterday's closing, influenced no doubt by the weaker tone of European advices, but good buying checked a further decline, and prices were advanced 11%@1%c above opening figures. Large export clearances helped the upward tendency, but speculative offerings became very heavy again at the advance, and prices receded 1%c from the outside range, were weak and closed at %@%c lower than yesterday.

Corn—Was active and greatly unsettled. No rain was reported in Kansas or Nebraska. Light rains in parts of Iowa, Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. The first trades were the same to a shade under the closing prices of yesterday, but soon

THE SHOPS OF THE TECHNOLOG-ICAL SCHOOL BUSY.

There Will Be no Stop for the Summe Twenty or Thirty Students at Work-Awake With Industry.

The shops of the Technological school have not closed and will not close for the summer. Ever since commencement day, more than a month ago, there has been a scene of life and activity out at the school.

More than twenty young men from the lower class have been busily at work each day in the various halls, and the machinery, awake to the stroke of the great engines which propel it, has moved on with undimished speed to the hum of busy industry.

There is a law in the discipline and government of the school requiring the members of the junior and middle classes to remain during the summer and make up the time lost during

Throughout the regular course so much time is taken from the workshops and devoted to textbooks, that the students can not possibly finish the work in this line laid out before them to do. Two hundred hours are lost in this way by each student every term.

Besides this, the boys are required to make up all the time lost by sickness and other causes that are excusable, and are made to serve double time for unexcused absences from neglect.

Another rule in the government of the school allows, by permission from the superin-dent of the shops, all students who may desire to do extra shop work, to enter the classes that are thus kept over during the summer.

In this way nearly fifty young men have been kept at work out at the Technological school since the close of the last term, and many of them will be there until the next session begins.

WHAT THEY ARE DOING THERE. All departments of the shops are in opera-

· In the woodshops, quite a large number of young men are engaged in constructing patterns in the agricultural lines, such as cotton planters, corn droppers, etc.

Others are doing what is known as cabinet work, and some are making all kinds of carved patterns, fancy work, writing desks, tables, bureaus, etc.

In the machine shops and forge rooms the boys are doing everything in heavy and light iron work, such as making agricultural implements from models, and executing all manner of forging known to the world of commercial hardware.

The foundry, too, is in constant operation, a "run" being made every day, and all lines of the work are being executed. The shops will continue to run for the summer. The boys are much enthused in their work and seem to have no inclination to leave it.

Many of them will remain voluntarily and put in some extra licks in advance of their course next year.

A WORD ABOUT THE SCHOOL.

The school has never enjoyed such promise of an overwhelming attendance as it does at present for the coming session.

"I am receiving every day dozens of applications for catalogues," said Dr. I. S. Hopkins, president of the school, yesterday.

"I have mailed today no less than twenty catalogues to those who specially applied for them, and am doing the same thing every day. I take it that the people of Georgia are fully awakening to the great advantages of the school, and are realizing more thoroughly every day the absolute necessity of their sons learning a trade."

"How many students do you expect for next season?" was asked.

season?" was asked.
"I believe there will be far more applicants than we can accept. More than we can ac-commodate. I fear we will be compelled to turn away dozens of applicants for the lack of accommodation. I never saw such a rush for catalogues and information concerning the catalogues and information concerning the school as is now being experienced.

"Many applications have been made from young men in other states. To them, of course, the tuition is not free. They would have to pay $150 tuition per year, but I am fearful that there will not be enough accommodations even for the Georgia boys, who have the first claim."

The new law requires that all applicants appear by the 29th of September, to be examined before the opening day, which is October 1st. The Technological school of Georgia is growing to proportions truly wonderful.

Woman has been compelled to suffer, not only her own ills, but those arising from a want of knowledge on the part of those with whom she stands connected. The frequent and distressing irregularties peculiar to her sex have thus been aggravated to a degree which no language can express. THE GREAT SHOW.

THOUSANDS WILL WITNESS IT ON THE 14TH.

The Programme About Complete-Fine Racing, Leaping and Fancy Zouave Drill -Bicycle and Foot Races.

The show at Piedmont past next Thursday will be one of great interest. The programme has been about completed. It is full of interesting features, and will delight the thousands who visit the park on that day.

There will be three state championship bicycle races. Several wheelmen have already entered. It is thought that there will be at least twenty contestants. Then there will be a state championship race of two miles for the $100 cup, donated by Maier & Berkele; a state championship race of one mile for a $50 breach loading shotgun, and a state championship race of one mile for a fine watch.

The interest in these races is growing daily, and the outlook is that a large number of wheelmen will appear on the track. If you want to enter these races send your name and address to Mr. T. J. Kelly, at The Constitu-TION office as soon as possible.

One of the greatest features of the day will be the fancy drill by Atlanta's famous Zouaves. This is the finest Zouave company in the south, if not in the entire country, and it is worth a dollar bill to see the drill. Captain Hollis and his great company will outdo all previous work that day.

Hundreds of people will enjoy this drill more than any other part of the procession. The people everywhere have heard of the Zouaves and are coming by the thousands to

The racing programme will be completed to-day and published tomorrow morning. Some of the finest runners and trotters of this section will appear on the track. The entries will close today at noon. Several stables are on the ground, and the horses are being trained daily. There will be a gentlemen's road race, also a

The foot races are attracting much attention. There will be two of these races-one of two hundred, and the other of one hundred yards, for the state championship. The successful winners will be awarded handsome gold badges. All persons who propose to contest for these badges will send their names to Mr. Kelly, chairman of the executive committee. All entries must be made by Tuesday at noon. A number of names have been sent in.

The elephant will appear before the great names have been sent in.

The elephant will appear before the grand stand and perform the various tricks that have made her the most famous animal in the zoological gardens at Hamburg. In fact, the show will be complete in every particular, and the thousands who will see it will be convinced that Atlanta has given them something extra. Excursions for one fare on all railroads in Georgia will insure a large crowd.

A MAGNIFICENT BANQUET.

President Gress, of the Park Commission at the Kimball.

One of the most elegant banquets ever given n the city of Atlanta will be that of Thurs day evening next at the Kimball house, endered by Mr. G. V. Gress, of this city, to about one hundred of his friends among the leading men of Atlanta.

The occasion will be the christening of THE Constitution's elephant and the lion as two important features of the Gress zoological garden, as well as the formal establishment of the Gress zoological garden.

Mr. Gress is president of the park commission, and takes a deep interest in the menagerie, which was named in his honor, he having presented to the city the collection from which the zoo made its beginning.

The banquet tendered by Mr. Gress will be a magnificent affair, and will be one of the most elaborate ever spread in the city. Atlauta's most prominent business men will be there as Mr. Gress's guests, and the evening will be one of rare enjoyment. Several of Mr. Gress's friends from different cities in the state will be present, and the evening will be one long to be remembered.

ORMEWOOD PARK is that beautiful tract of 100 acres just east of Grant Park and north of the Confederate Veterans' Home property. Itis within one-fourth mile of Grant Park, Little Switzerland and the dummy line as it goes around the park. The dummy line to the home runs for a half mile through Ormewood, thus making every lot in the park very accessible. A large force of hands under the direction of Major Charles Boeckh is now at work grading out avenues and drives. A beautiful avenue 60 feet wide, leading direct from Grant Park and the Boulevard, has already been graded through Ormewood, thus affording one of the most attractive drives around the city. Drive out there this evening and see for yourself. Mr. Harry Woodward has just completed a handsome $4,500 residence at the head of Ormewood avenue, and several more of equal value will be erected shortly by some of our best citizens. The entire 100 acres has been subdivided in the most advantageous manner, and the lots are from one-half to three acres each. No smaller lots will be sold. To those who will erect desirable residences we will sell these lots on most liberal terms, it being the object of the owners to build up this beautiful park with first-class houses rather than sell to speculators. There is no location about the city thatis as free from every objectionable feature as this property, and if you seek a suburban home you can do no better than select a lot here. -ATLANTA'S THOUSANDS THE CENSUS GIVES HER 65,514

PEOPLE. A Most Remarkable Per Cent of Increas Over the Last Count-Wonderful Pre-

There are 65,514 people in Atlanta, according to the official count in Washington. This is nearly one thousand more than was dictions for 1900.

shown some time ago by the card count.

The calculation would not have been made for more than a month yet, had Atlanta waited for her turn in the count, but at THE Constitution's request, Superintendent Porter placed Atlanta third on the list of the cities of the United States, and the count was completed yesterday.

The official report makes a wonderful showing for the Gate City.

In 1880 Atlanta laid claim to only 37,409.

Today it is 65,514, an increase of 28,105.

This means an increase of 75.13 per cent ithin ten years, a record that has not been reached by any other city in the country ex-cepting a few boom cities that have sprung up and been built entirely within the past ten years. The showing that Atlanta makes is, indeed, the most striking that any city has yet shown by the last census.

WATCH HER GROWTH. At the rate of increase Atlanta has estab-lished by this census, which is something more than 75 per cent, she will, at the next count in 1900, record more than 114,000.

It is too evident that this rate of increase will be maintained. There increase will be maintained. There are abundant indications that it will indeed grow larger during the next ten years.

This, perhaps, could not be shown more clearly than is now being indicated by the count of manufacturing industries in the city.

Mr. R. F. Bunker, who is conducting this department of the census here, states that Atlanta will show up more manufactories in operation and in course of construction than any city its size in course of construction than any city its size in course of construction than any city its size in the whole south.

These live industries growing and increasing each day in wonderful proportions, are bringing an enormous influx of population, wealth and general growth.

Keep your eyes on Atlanta, and don't be surprised when the next census is taken if she has reached out to embrace her suburban towns to count 150,000.

TO TEACH IN WEST END.

Professor E. C. Merry, of Madison, Elected Principal of the West End Academy. The board of trustees of the West End academ met yesterday morning, for the purpose of electing a principal. There were about a dozen applicants, but the first ballot showed that Professor E. C. Merry, of Madison, Ga., was the successful man.

Professor Merry is an honor graduate of Emorcollege, and has had about nine years' successfue experience as a teacher, the most of the timbeling spent at Montezuma and Madison. He habeen at the latter place about four years, and habuilt up a very large school, which is the pride of that community and the surrrounding country. He stands high in the educational circles of the state, and as a disciplinarian and in structor is eminently fitted for the place to which he is elected. He has made a special study of the graded school system and of public school work. The work of making the addition to the present building is being rapidly pushed, and the trusteer announce their intention of sparing no effort to give to the people of West End the best school facilities and the most efficient school to be found anywhere.

Cruelty to Children: Seeing them sickly, peevish and cross and failing to give them Dr. Bull's Worm Destroyers, a pleasant candy

A Very Good Reason Druggists who are selling Smith's Tonic Syrup, made by Dr. Bull, of Louisville, Ky., Syrup, made by Dr. Bull, of Louisville, Ky., wonder that its sales increase so rapidly. At first, they began to buy a quarter or a half dozen, but found that amount was sometimes sold in a single day, and now they say they are obliged to buy in thalf gross and gross lots in order to keep a supply on hand. There is a very good reason why Smith's Tonic Syrup should sell so well. There is not much newspaper advertising done, but it advertises itself. Every bottle used is an advertisement, for it does exactly what it is expected to do. It will break up the chills and fever in less time than any other drug. It will prevent and quickly cure colds, influenza, la grippe, etc. In fact, it can be substituted for quinine in every instance, and with better satisfaction, for its effect is more certain and reliable, and it never leaves the unpleasant effects that quinine sometimes does.—Marion Co. While there, I became so reduced in strength that I could not speak and was compelled to write everything I wanted to say. I was then having some 25 or 30 stools per day. The doctors ordered a medicine that I was satisfied would be of no benefit to me. I did not take it, but persuaded my nurse to get me some of Dr. Ayor's Pills. About two o'clock in the afternoon I took six of these pills, and by midnight began to feel better. In the morning the doctors came again, and after deciding that my symptoms were more favorable, gave me a different medicine, which I did not use, but took four more of the pills instead. The next day the doctors came to see me, and thought I was doing nicely, (and so did I). I then took one pill a day for a week.
